SJW Golf Tournament for Epilepsy to benefit Abilities Network/Epilepsy Foundation of the Chesapeake Region.

Towson, MD, April, 28, 2009. The Inaugural SJW Golf Tournament for Epilepsy will take place Tuesday, June 2, 2009 at Waverly Woods Golf Course in Marriottsville, MD. The event, sponsored by Joe Wathen with RE/MAX Advantage Realty, will raise money to benefit Abilities Network/Epilepsy Foundation of the Chesapeake Region (EFCR).

The cause is close to Joe Wathen, whose wife, Susan, has epilepsy. "For anyone who knows of someone with epilepsy, it is very tough on the families as well as a very frightening experience for those with the disorder," says Wathen.

Abilities Network/EFCR is a non-profit organization whose mission is to promote inclusion for people with disabilities in their communities. Through EFCR, the organization provides education, advocacy and research services for children and adults in Maryland with epilepsy, as well as their families and caregivers.

Cost of participating in the tournament is $125/person, or $500 /foursome. Late registration after May 10 is $150/person. There are hole sponsorships available, and prizes will be awarded for the longest drive, closest to pin, and more. Light breakfast will be served, and a lunch banquet during the awards ceremony.
